

Note from the IRS regarding Economic Impact Payments

The IRS will soon be issuing Economic Impact Payments to every eligible American. We need your help to reach individuals who do not normally file because they do not have enough income that requires them to file. This includes the homeless, certain seniors and some limited English-proficient individuals who will need to provide information to the IRS to get their Economic Impact Payment.

Eligible Social Security recipients and railroad retirees who are otherwise not required to file a return will not be required to file a return or provide further information.

Please use your networks to reach these individuals.

Attached is some information to get you started.

More information is being added to [IRS.gov/coronavirus \[irs.gov\]](https://www.irs.gov/coronavirus). Please follow the [IRS Social Media accounts \[irs.gov\]](#) to receive the latest information that they can share.

I am not typically required to file a tax return. Can I still receive my payment?

Yes. The IRS will use the information on the Form SSA-1099 or Form RRB-1099 to generate Economic Impact Payments to recipients of benefits reflected in the Form SSA-1099 or Form RRB-1099 who are not required to file a tax return and did not file a return for 2018 or 2019. This includes senior citizens, Social Security recipients and railroad retirees who are not otherwise required to file a tax return.

Since the IRS would not have information regarding any dependents for these people, each person would receive $1,200 per person, without the additional amount for any dependents at this time.

The IRS is also offering Coronavirus Tax Relief. Check www.irs.gov/coronavirus for frequent updates.
